

WEDNESDAY SEMINAR

13.03.2024, 17:00 Uhr, Übungsraum (and online)
IKSA, NIG, Universitätsstraße 7, 1010 Wien, 4. Stock

Angéla Kóczé (Central European University)

Gender, Race, Class: Romani Women Social Struggles in Central and Eastern Europe

Angéla Kóczé is an Assistant Professor, Chair of Romani Studies and Academic Director of the Roma Graduate Preparation Program at Central European University in Budapest and Vienna. She has published several peer-reviewed articles and book chapters with various international presses, including Palgrave Macmillan, Ashgate, Routledge and CEU Press, as well as several thematic policy papers related to social inclusion, gender equality, social justice, and civil society.

kommende Termine

20.03.2024 Thomas Stodulka
Tasting the Soil and Sensing the Future:
Pedagogies of hope and prospects in Timor-
Leste's Permaculture Youth Camps

24.04.2024
Sanderien Verstappen & Katharina Gartner
Filmscreening: Anthropology for the Ears and Eyes

This presentation will be based on a forthcoming monograph that locates Romani women's gendered and racialized condition in the broader semi-peripheral social and political economy and takes stock of the last three decades of women's activism at the transnational and trans-local level. The upcoming book provides a synthesis of Romani women's social and political activism through the interrogation of the paradoxes that relates to the development of neoliberal capitalism in the post-socialist region since early 1990s: Neoliberal capitalism extensively has encouraged and promoted the "empowerment of Romani women" through public, private, and civic organisations while significantly has contributed to the gradual dismantling of social and economic safety, reduced welfare benefits and social services, hence solidified the structural discrimination of the majority of Romani women.

Details:

[https://ksa.univie.ac.at/en/department/
events/wednesday-seminar/](https://ksa.univie.ac.at/en/department/events/wednesday-seminar/)

